Junior front-end developer with work experience in Berlin's startup scene. Recently, I had the opportunity to build a responsive Web App, using technologies like ReactJS, JavaScript, ES6 and Webpack. Working closely with the UX designer and back-end developer in a fintech startup has expanded my knowledge of efficient web development and web design as well as boosted my programming skills. Previously an educator and a sales specialist, I am currently open to new challenges in web development. My degree in education has given me techniques to acquire new skills quickly as well as good communication skills.
